ABOUT THE SPEAKER

DAVID STOECKEL is an Independent Educational Consultant, based in Southern California, specializing solely in working with college-bound student-athletes. In 1990, he founded the College Recruiting Group (CRG) to provide a highly-personalized service to guide high-school-age athletes through their college recruiting activities. For over two decades, David has worked with individual families to provide one-on-one guidance to their athletes, in all sports, with the goal of optimizing their opportunities for having a successful college recruiting experience. As an integral part of this service, CRG also produces professional quality recruiting videos of the athletes for them to make available to the college coaches.

David has also authored various recruiting publications and articles as well as presented numerous complimentary Recruiting Seminars to high schools and athletic club teams throughout the nation for the benefit of players, parents, coaches, and counselors. His most recent book, Advising the College-Bound Student-Athlete – The Counselor’s Manual – 2016-2017 Edition, has proven to be extremely popular with both high school and independent counselors alike.

If you have any questions for David, or desire further information regarding the availability of his services, please feel free to contact him at 949.306.3310 or david@PlayCollegeSports.com.
